REVIEW AND COMMENT PROCESS

This overview booklet is included in the review and comment process for the website, Declaration Era Educational Press (DEEP). The citations are deemed to be FAIR USE. The authors cited may render an alternative view. Adjustments will be made if such views are received. Aside from comments being most welcome, the enterprise is especially interested in recruiting thought leaders who will share their thinking for at least two purposes. The first is to help educate motivated learners. The second is to potentially become a member of the team that will help in the preparation of a Declaration of Reform. Substantial additional information is available upon request.
